Course Overview

HDP 193 is a 4-unit independent research course that may be used to satisfy a requirement for the HDS major or minor. It is similar to a 199 course in that it provides students with an opportunity to conduct an independent research project under the guidance of a faculty instructor, however it differs in that it allows students to earn a letter grade for their work. Students should expect a level of academic rigor in HDP 193 comparable to other 4-unit letter grade courses.

Enrollment in this course provides students with the opportunity to gain research experience, form a relationship with a faculty member, enhance knowledge in a field of interest, and build valuable skills that will be a great asset to a graduate school application or resume. It also gives the student a valuable opportunity to tailor a project that is specific to their education and/or career goals.

Research Projects for HDP 193 can cover one or two quarters. (Check here if proposing a 2-quarter project:)
